

‘TREASURIES OF KNOWLEDGE’ PROGRAMME

9.00 Welcome and Introduction

9.15 Session 1: Treasuries of Knowledge

Chair: Arnold Hunt

Eric Ketelaar (Amsterdam), ‘A Gentleman’s Treasuries in the Dutch Republic’

Emma Spary (Cambridge), ‘Plants as Tributes and Treasures in Early Modern France’

Helen Kemp (Essex), ‘All My Manuscripts Papers of My Own Hand to be Carefully Preserved in the Study of the Said Library’

10.45 Coffee

11.10 Session 2: Mediating Access

Chair: Eric Ketelaar

Sundar Henny (Basel and Cambridge), ‘Masters of Useless Information: Private Papers as Treasures in Seventeenth-Century Zurich’

Fabio Antonini (ARCHIVES project, Birkbeck), ‘Italian Archives: Administration and Scholarship’

Djoeke van Netten (Amsterdam), ‘Collecting and Guarding Information just before and after the Establishment of the Dutch East India Company (1602)’

12.40 Lunch

13.40 Session 3: Networks and Hierarchies

Chair: Jennifer Bishop

Frances Maguire (York), ‘Printed Receipts and Personal Solvency: Collecting the Paperwork of Hearth Tax’

Marco Schnyder (Geneva), ‘Knowledge, Action, and Identity: The Swiss Merchant Nation in Lyon and its Archive (17th-18th centuries)’

14.40 Coffee

15.00 Session 4: Crossing Borders

Chair: Liesbeth Corens

Brooke Palmieri (UCL): ‘A Little World of Strangeness’

Stéphane Jettot (Oxford and Paris IV): ‘Treasuries of Refugees: The Collection of Genealogical Archives by Exiled Jacobites in the Reign of Louis XIV’

16.00 Break

16.20 Roundtable: What Can Digitisation do for the Structure of Collections?

Matt Symonds, Centre for Editing Lives and Letters (UCL)

Sietske Franssen and Katherine Reinhart, Making Visible: The Visual and Graphic Practices of the Early Royal Society (Cambridge)

17.30 End of Conference